Dear Ms. Loftus,

I was instantly enthusiastic about entering the ByrneWallace internship opportunity the second I saw it as I believe I would be a perfect fit. I am a final year law and criminology student studying in Maynooth University on route to achieving a 2.1 who is equipped with a plethora of skills and experiences ideal for such a role.

ByrneWallace's position on collaboration is particularly stand out to me as I pride myself on being adaptable to different team dynamics. I have experience working as part of an effective team in my role of barista, in which we have garnered approval from the main offices on our efficiency. I also have academic collaboration experience from my property law group project work, which I am anticipating a high result in.

I note that you are "the only top ten law firm in Ireland with Lexcel accreditation", a commendable achievement that I feel I would be able to apply myself to upkeeping. I am well versed in commercial awareness which I attribute to my experience with maintaining the standards of quality expected from customers in my current employment. The customer I serve are loyal on the basis of the reoccurring quality of care and service they receive.

I would be appreciative of the opportunity to join ByrneWallace as part of the internship programme as I see myself as a perfect fit. My skillset is compatible with the standards the firm holds, and the areas dealt with are of interest to me. I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind Regards,
Emma Sheehan
