RE: Summer Internship 2023

To whom it may concern,

With the utmost enthusiasm, I would like to make myself available for the summer internship role at your Dublin office. As an international graduate with a diverse cultural and academic background, I am willing to start and build my career in such an important hub for international business as Dublin.

My academic and early professional experiences have always been focused on creating a solid foundation for establishing a successful career in the field of corporate law, as this is the area that made me passionate about the legal practice since the early stages of my bachelor's. Thanks to my dual law degree in French and Spanish law, my international and European Business LL.M., my professional courses, and my curiosity for the business world, I have acquired a sound knowledge of corporate law, including but not limited to, M&A, Corporate Governance and Financial Services. Because of this, I am in a good position to start a new role in your firm that would grant me the necessary exposure to the high-profile cases that ByrneWallace deals with while assisting your senior lawyers and learning from them.

I am a candidate who can work under the pressure of tight deadlines and deliver high-end solutions to challenges. In this sense, last year, I completed a demanding LL.M. at Trinity College while being enrolled in the relevant litigation master's for becoming a solicitor in Spain. The latter program, held online, requires me to complete three practical exercises a week and will enable me to qualify in July as a solicitor in Spain and, consequently, to practice in the European Union. Moreover, as a part of my responsibilities as a trainee at Fidag, I was in charge of researching legal queries of international clients and delivering presentations on my findings. Incidentally, my fluent domain in English, French and Spanish and my multi-jurisdictional knowledge, placed me in an advantageous position for this task. For all these reasons, I trust that my international approach and extensive law background across jurisdictions could be of great service to ByrneWallace.

Finally, my long-term goal would be to register as a foreign-qualified solicitor in Ireland under the Establishment Directive (art. 10 of EU Directive 98/5/EC).

I look forward to exploring any opportunity during an interview,

Yours faithfully,

Ines Floquet
