Dear Hiring Manager,

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing today to apply for the Byrne Wallace Summer internship 2024. I heard about this opportunity through your website, and it caught my attention.

As a second-year student at University College Dublin and Paris II Panthéon Assas University, pursuing a double degree in common law and French civil law, I developed an interest for the legal system, and more specifically, the legislation surrounding mergers and acquisitions, which I got the opportunity to discover through an internship with Traver Smith, Paris last year. I am also very interested about the new technologies and innovations, and I really want to learn more about the law surrounding clean technologies. What makes corporate law appealing to me is the opportunity to discover various fields such as the new technologies ones through the prism of legal work.

Through my coursework, I have gained valuable insights into areas such as contract law, company law and French law, among others. In parallel to my degree I obtained work as a legal interpreter, which allowed me to see from the inside legal and administrative procedures. This allowed me to confirm my interest in the legal system and my wish to pursue this field. Additionally, I have actively engaged in extracurricular activities, such as participating in the peer mentor program of my university. I also love to go to talks about the progresses made by sciences and new technologies companies, so I often go to talks on these subjects.

What sets me apart as a candidate for this internship is my dedication to develop my knowledge and skills within the legal field beyond my academic degree. For me, practical experience is as valuable as academic achievements and I take every opportunity offered to me as a chance to develop it.

Working at Byrne Wallace would be a great opportunity for me to discover new areas of corporate law, as well as work on advising innovative companies, such as Arkema, Select, or Adaptative Mobile Security.

During my internship, I am eager to dedicate myself to completing every task you set out to me. I am confident that my attention to detail, analytical thinking, my will to improve my skill set and my dedication to thorough research would make me an asset to your firm.

Enclosed, please find my resume, which provides additional details about my academic and extracurricular achievements, as well as my previous practical experience in various legal firms and administration services. I am available to discuss how my skills and background align with the needs of your firm at your earliest convenience.

Thank you for considering my application. I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to Byrne Wallace and further develop my legal skills under your guidance. Please feel free to contact me at +33 646713694 or lucievenot14@gmail.com if you would like to further discuss my experiences and skills. I look forward to the possibility of joining your team and contributing to the success of the firm.

Sincerely,
Lucie Venot
