Dear Graduate Recruitment Manager,

I am currently in my final year of my Bachelor of Laws Degree with a drive to challenge myself in a commercial law environment that fosters talented lawyers and high-profile clientele. BryanWallace LLP is one of Ireland's greatest full-service law firms and is a top tier firm in the Legal 500. The opportunity to become part of this firm is a law student's dream. The prestigious list of clientele that BryanWallace LLP represent has drawn me to this firm. Working with clients The Irish Times and different businesses can provide me with important experience and exposure to interesting high-profile cases. The diverse range of practice areas that the firm provides such as Banking & Finance and Corporate Restructuring & Insolvency are areas in which I am interested. It would be an opportunity for me to apply all my knowledge and skill into the different practice areas that will be available to interns upon acceptance. I am aware of the firm's charitable and volunteerism culture. This draws me to the firm as the firm is dedicated to contributing to society, seeking to build strong relationships with the local community.

I am interested in Corporate Law as I believe it will involve challenging and intellectually stimulating work. The possibility to learn about business deals such as mergers, acquisitions, and corporate governance will provide me with new knowledge on a different area of law I have not yet practiced. I believe I am capable to learn about these areas and continuously advance. I am a dedicated and hard-working individual with a strong passion for justice and the pursuit of legal knowledge. I have developed extensive research and analytical skills, enabling me to thoroughly examine legal issues and effectively present my findings. I have developed these skills through my work experience in a District Criminal Court and throughout my studies and exams in college. I am adept at conducting legal research in order to provide accurate and well-informed legal analysis. I am a highly organized and detail-oriented individual, capable of managing multiple tasks and meeting deadlines. I thrive in fast-paced environments and am able to remain calm under pressure. My writing skills that I have developed through drafting court outcomes like disqualifications and suspended sentences will be beneficial to me when drafting persuasive legal documents such as memorandums and briefs. I have had the opportunity to observe courtroom proceedings and assist solicitors in case documentation. I have trained new interns into my role and taken a leadership position which has taught me the importance of professionalism, being a team player and problem-solving.

Overall, I am committed to developing into a skilled and ethical solicitor who can make a positive impact in the legal profession. I am eager to continue learning and refine my skills and I am excited about the prospect of contributing to the field of law.

Thank you for your time and attention. I would be extremely grateful to be considered for your Summer Internship Programme and the opportunity to share more about my experiences and passion for the law.
