To whom it may concern,

I am very interested in the position of an intern Byrne Wallace. I am in my final year at the University of California, Davis, pursuing a bachelor's degree in Economics. I have finished applying to law schools with a 179 LSAT score and 4.1 GPA. I will be enrolling in law school in the fall of 2024. I have been a part of the Honors Dean's List every quarter I have attended Davis. During my time at Davis, I have completed coursework in Micro and Macroeconomics, Calculus, Literature, Latin, Statistical Data Science, and Econometrics. I will be graduating a year ahead of my peers while maintaining my academic standing and pursuing my passions outside of school. My past work experience allowed me to foster my intellectual curiosity while gaining professional experience in the legal field. The combination of these experiences and my liberal arts education has prepared me for professional settings.

I believe that my experience makes me the ideal candidate for this position with exceptional communication and analytic skills. Through my internship experiences, I have gained ample research and writing experience by reviewing and analyzing legal documents. I am proficient in using legal software such as Westlaw for case-specific research and citations using the Bluebook. My writing skills are proficient and practiced with experience writing legal memos, letters to clients, law review articles, and research papers. I have experience using the entirety of the Microsoft Office Suite. Through my economics coursework, I have had significant experience, particularly with Microsoft Excel, R, and STATA. I am a hard worker who is passionate and determined. My various leadership roles have taught me to be organized, efficient, and an excellent communicator. But above all, I am eager to learn and accomplish my goals.

I have attached my resume and look forward to discussing my qualifications with you.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Megha Nagaram
