With the utmost eagerness, I want to express my interest & passion for the Intern role at Byrne Wallace. As someone who is passionate about law with strong business acumen, I know my versatile skills and qualifications will make me an asset to the team.

My early upbringing was at Ambala Cantonment, the oldest Air Force Base in Haryana. Watching frequent sorties of Air Force jets encouraged me to fly high, literally and metaphorically. Many civilians of Ambala thrive by supplying scientific instruments and apparatus within India and abroad. This background, vaguely and subtly, impressed upon me the linkages between science, economy, and law. My subsequent academic journey progressed from science to law & economics because scientific understanding is the core of economic progress and legal systems in modern democracies.

When I was nine, my parents moved to Delhi, the country's nerve centre and the seat of higher judicial echelons. The chasm separating its Lutyen's opulent zone from the rough and tumble of the metropolis is a great learning experience. During my education journey here, I realized law is not only an academic subject but a way of life, a necessity. Learning its intricate entanglement with the socio-economic and geo-political scenario is what brought forth my interest in a career in law.

The analytical reasoning required, constant changes and research in the field and its implication to society is what I enjoy about law the most. While working with NALSA, the national body for providing free legal aid in India, I realized the real impact of law in society. Understanding the importance of law in setting forth major societal changes is also a major factor in my appreciation of the field.

Previous Experience: In my previous experience as a Legal Researcher at NALSA, I have expanded my skillset to include policy research and drafting. In this role, I formulated National Legal Services policies including but not limited to Pre-Litigation Mediation Scheme, Legal Aid Welfare Scheme for Women, Witness Protection Scheme, Scheme for Early Release of Prisoners undergoing Life Imprisonment (Adopted by Supreme Court of India). During my other internships, my practice areas included Corporate Laws, Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, International Commercial Arbitration, IPR and Banking Regulations. Besides, I also learnt the intricacies of contract negotiations.

Throughout my experiences, I've been able to provide technical solutions and present recommendations to senior management. My passion for client success and legal acumen aligns with your company's values and would be an asset for your company.

While my resume provides a quick summary of my experiences, I hope to have the opportunity to share how I can bring value to your company's needs.
