Dear Sir or Madam,

Re: 2020 Internship Programme

I am writing to express my interest in the internship taking place in your Dublin office this upcoming summer. I am in my third, penultimate year of studying PPES (with an emphasis in Philosophy and Economics) at Trinity College Dublin and am excited by the opportunity to begin a career in law.

I believe that my study of Philosophy and advanced English classes has equipped me with the attributes necessary to excel as a solicitor. My study of Philosophy has developed my ability to form and critically access arguments based on logic. This capability, coupled with my academic history of advanced English classes, will allow me to construct and properly express legal arguments. It is ultimately these qualities, my love of debate and writing, that has led me to pursue a career in law.

This internship will require the ability to adapt to and apply one's talents in a new environment. Having moved from New York to Dublin to attend Trinity and consistently challenging myself in new fields of interest throughout high school, I believe I have this capability. My pursuit of new experiences has given me the capacity to listen, learn skills quickly, and remain optimistic when faced with steep learning curves. While this will be my first position in a law firm, I am confident that my history excelling in new environments will allow me to succeed at ByrneWallace.

I am interested in interning at ByrneWallace because of the diverse educational opportunity this position offers. Working in different practice areas of the firm will allow me to identify the area of law I want to build my career in. Additionally, BryneWallace's emphasis on learning and development through tailored educational programmes will ensure I am taught how to fully utilize my talents in practicing law.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss my application with you at interview. Please find attached my curriculum vitae.

Regards,

Aidan Donnelly
