

To Whom it may concern:

As a current visiting law student at Trinity College, I'm delighted to submit this application for your summer internship program.

As my aim is to work in the field of public international law (more precisely within European institutions), I am interested in the divisions concentrating on EU Competition Law, as well as the one on Environmental Law.

During previous terms, I have spent a considerable time studying the legal and economic aspects of Competition policy in the EU, and my interest in this field has grown. This semester, I'm taking a course on EU Law, but I am already literate in the topic after my studies in France. I'm about to follow this path as I will specialize next year in a Master in International Administration.

Environmental Law is also a topic I'm studying this year. It has been several years I've taken interest in this topic. I'm an active member at "Assas Environnement", a society in my home university that promotes a sustainable lifestyle on campus. We have made all the other societies sign a charter to promote this goal and are trying to discuss the adoption of some of our proposals with the chairman of the University.

I believe my experience of legal internships (I have already done two the past two summers in France), legal and writings skills will be useful to the firm, and I look forward to our future correspondences.
