Dear Sir/Madam,

It is with great pleasure to introduce myself; my name is Bryna Heffernan and I am currently a second year Civil Law student at NUI Galway. I am writing to you to express my interest in the ByrneWallace Summer Internship Programme in June 2020. I ascertained a vast amount of information about this programme from your website and it is with great enthusiasm that I submit my application.

The law has a powerful impact on how the world operates. This career will constantly provide me with a multitude of intellectual challenges to stimulate my mind. The vast amount of corporate sectors that your firm practices immensely peaks my interest. The Firm's recent endeavour to advise Mainstream Renewable Power to fundraise for key Chilean wind and solar projects elucidates the firms values in sustainability, and innovation capability of enterprises. This is an extremely meritorious project for the firm which I admire. The firm's involvement with international projects, showcases the the firm's longevity and fast-growing market.

Being an active member of dance and sports teams for many years has shown me the importance of teamwork. For group dance performances to look effective, it is a requirement for us to move as a unit and to support each other which is also essential in a law firm for success. As a Céim leader, for each session to run smoothly it is quintessential to plan our sessions and to work collectively to evenly spread out the workload. Being a leader has also showcased my interpersonal skills and intellectual rigour because the 1st year law students may often have an issue with a certain topic. It is my duty to listen to and critically analyse their question and think of a solution promptly in order for the student to benefit from the session.

Receiving an internship at ByrneWallace would strengthen the skills that I will require for my future legal career. I would learn a tremendous amount of information from the associates at this firm which would be extremely beneficial.

Please see my CV which highlights my education, work experience and achievements. I look forward to hearing from you. I can be contacted anytime on the email and mobile number written above.

Thank you in advance for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Bryna Heffernan.
