Subject: Letter entailing Statement of Purpose to apply for the Internship Programme

Apropos, to aforementioned subject, I wish to apply for ByrneWallace Internship Programme in order to learn, grow and practice in the given fields of law inter alia under your tutelage. I am a committed and go-getting individual who has a constant thirst for developing his legal knowledge while striving for quality & excellence in all endeavours. This opportunity of working alongside highly respected, proficient lawyers and letting my work showcase my determination is most appealing to me.

As it can be inferred from the enclosed CV, during my position at Economic Laws Practice under Indirect Tax Litigation & Corporate Advisory, I gained valuable first-hand experience in transactions related to corporate restructuring while having profound understanding of drafting petitions and legal opinions. Further, I had the opportunity to develop court and communication skills through standing on dais. During my tenure at India Juris, I was engaged in the execution of foreign direct investments along with its compliances, preparation of Shareholder Agreements, conducting corporate due-diligence and its reporting while also assisting with routine compliances. With an aim to pursue my academic and a professional dream, I enrolled myself in Master of Laws (LL.M.) from Trinity College Dublin. I now look forward to enhance my hitherto limited knowledge and experience under the aegis of your dedicated team of lawyers providing expert legal services. This would assist me in exploring my full potential as a lawyer and understanding clients' needs in this dynamic and fast-paced business environment.

To achieve the aforesaid objectives, I feel that quality of guidance and support is of utmost importance and believe that ByrneWallace has plethora of opportunities for an ambitious individual with clear career goals and vigour to go to any extreme in becoming an outstanding lawyer. Your belief in cultural diversity and values would help foster team work and collaboration furthering a friendly & collegial environment within the organisation. I had the opportunity to experience such atmosphere the moment I arrived at your office for an open evening. It was rather delightful in knowing the group activities this organisation has for their employees to get involved. Being an individual described as friendly, approachable and inquisitive by clients and colleagues while having first-hand experience in volunteering activities, such environment and activities is an aspect that I would thoroughly enjoy.

I am an accomplished individual and do not believe to limit myself to academic excellence, thereby I strive to experience, learn and succeed in other aspects of life. I would like to advert your attention on the fact that I have been extremely active in participating in extra-curricular and volunteering activities which forms an imperative part of my ethics and makes me well-equipped to take position of responsibilities. My dedication stems from my drive to achieve what others may perceive as impossible and therefore sign up for experiences that are self-enriching. I am eager to forward the values and ethos of your organization while purposively striving to enhance its business. Your good selves being the front runner in providing quality corporate and legal services to their clients with a self-enriching, augmenting environment for their future employees would provide me an opportunity to explore my potentials. I hereby am applying for joining as an Intern and a future Trainee. I appreciate your time and consideration to review my application and look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,
Dhruv Khurana
