

I am writing to express my interest in the legal traineeship program at Byrne Wallace, as advertised. As an Irish-Palestinian aspiring solicitor, I am particularly drawn to your firm's commitment to excellence, integrity, and social responsibility, values that resonate deeply with my personal and professional ethos.

I am currently working at Daly Khurshid Solicitors, where I work directly with international protection clients. This role has not only honed my legal research and analytical skills but has also reinforced my commitment to advocating for vulnerable individuals. I have witnessed first-hand the profound impact that dedicated legal representation can have on clients navigating complex legal systems, which fuels my passion for pursuing a career in law.

In addition to my professional experience, I actively engage in various extracurricular activities that foster teamwork, leadership, and community involvement. I am an avid participant in sports, which has instilled in me a strong sense of discipline and resilience.

Furthermore, my commitment to charitable work is exemplified by my role in organizing a fundraising bake sale in Tripoli, Libya, which supported an orphanage during Eid. This experience underscored the importance of social justice and community engagement, further motivating my desire to make a positive impact through my legal career.

I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to Byrne Wallace's distinguished reputation and learn from a team of accomplished professionals. I am eager to bring my dedication, diverse background, and passion for law to your firm. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how I can contribute to your team.

Sincerely,

Jeneen Ijawi.
