Dear Sir / Madam,

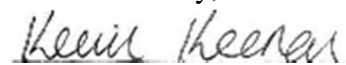

I have recently completed an Honours degree in Business and Law at Dublin Institute of Technology and have continued my studies in University College Dublin where I am enrolled on their LL.M International Commercial Law Masters programme. I am writing to you to apply for a position as a Trainee Solicitor within your firm as advertised through your website.

I would relish the opportunity of working as part of a firm with the professional and noble reputation that Byrne Wallace has gained and maintained over many years. The honourable yet flexible approach that you take in ensuring client satisfaction, whether it involves your Property team advising Irish Life on the acquisition of their new building on Grafton Street or acting for Nexvet Biopharma during their IPO, exhibits why the firm was named as "Law Firm of the Year" at the AIB Private Banking Irish Law Awards last May. After researching the responsibilities that I would be expected to fulfil in this position I have noted that they require the same qualities that I have demonstrated in many aspects of my life. This position would be an excellent opportunity for me to enhance my future career as being exposed to respected experts would undoubtedly benefit my interests and those of your firm throughout my career.

I would be an ideal Intern to have within your firm. I have previously worked in a leading law firm in Dublin. As a result, I gained invaluable experience that I hope I could bring to your firm. I am a natural born leader and this has been reflected through my achievements in sport. My persuasive and goal-orientated nature ensures that my work is always completed to the highest standards. This has been reflected through my ability to successfully work as part of many group projects in college and also through many of my sporting achievements.

I would like to thank you for your time and consideration. You may contact me anytime on 086 240 5773. Please find my curriculum vitae attached.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin Keenan
