

Dear Emily,

I hope this letter finds you well. Having attended the open ceremony makes me feel the supportive and warm environment of ByrneWallace, and I do believe it would be greater if I could be a new member of the ByrneWallace team. Follows are the reasons why I can be an asset.

- Determination of connecting to the commercial world as a solicitor with commercial acumen

My work at Guangdong Alpha Law Firm has given me experience in legal research and using the law to solve real-world problems. I assisted in disposing of a trade secret dispute by helping the plaintiff obtain non-public appraisals and damage compensation estimates. I conducted legal research to understand the evaluation organization's requirements and liaised with the company's business personnel. Helping clients solve their problems gave me a sense of achievement, which prompted me to learn more legal knowledge to provide more effective solutions for my future clients.

- Life-long learner who always be happy to embrace challenges and out of the comfort zone

Attending coursework in Beijing, being an exchange student in Taiwan, attending a business competition in Hongkong, pursuing a Master's degree in Ireland and finally applying for a trainee solicitor program in a different jurisdiction, these experiences make me keep refreshing myself. Being a solicitor does need persistence of ever-lasting study and I enjoy the learning process.

Thank you so much for your time and consideration. My work experiences, coupled with my affinity for embracing challenges, would make me an asset to ByrneWallace's team. I can be easily reached at your convenience by email (lil9@tcd.ie) or by telephone (089 488 8658).

Sincerely,
Lijia
