Subject: Speculative application for a work placement

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am currently looking for a work placement lasting at least 12 weeks, starting on the 15th of January 2024, as part of the validation of my third study year. Consequently, I would like to offer you my application for an intern position in Byrne Wallace LLP.

I am a French student in a double Bachelor's degree in Law and Foreign Languages applied to business (Langues Etrangères Appliquées - LEA) at the Université de Bretagne Occidentale of Brest, in France. This degree aims to train us in the mastery of the law and two modern languages, personally English and Spanish. Moreover, it promotes the acquisition of complementary skills in subjects such as economics, management, and information technology.

I am particularly interested in your law firm seeing as I think that it conforms perfectly with the continuity of my learning path by bringing together its two facets, namely the legal field and the international approach. I would like to learn more about this important and valuable advisory work, by discovering the day-to-day life of lawyers. Furthermore this experience would be very instructive for me, because I will discover another legal system than the one I am studying.

Since the start of my training, I have been able to develop several skills, such as rigour and a great capacity for work, reinforced by my previous experience of summer jobs, where I was also able to put my cohesive qualities to good use.

In addition, during the two internships I did this year, one, in a Local Court, and the other in a Notary office, I learnt to adapt to a working environment, and it as well enabled me to apply legal skills I had acquired throughout my university curriculum.

To conclude, I would like to reiterate my interest in this work placement because it could allow me to acquire my first significant experience in a foreign legal firm. I am completely available to provide you with any further information you may require regarding my candidacy.

I look forward to hearing from you.
Yours faithfully,
