To whom it may concern,

My name is Muireann Browne and I am currently a final year law student in Trinity College, Dublin.

Over the past three years, I have continuously maintained a 2:1 grade, whilst also having a part-time job. To me, a part-time job gives me independence from my parents, which most students cannot say they are. At the moment, I am currently working in one of Dublin's best restaurants, Forest Avenue, as one of their longest members of staff; hence training in new staff and delegating tasks to others is all part of my job description.

I am hard working, driven, sociable and an extreme perfectionist in everything I do. As Forest Avenue is a fine dining restaurant, I have been trained in quite an intense atmosphere, whilst providing extremely high end service to all customers.

Last year, I attended Emory Law School; one of America's top 10 law schools. I spent 6 months in Atlanta attending lectures, making friends, travelling and lastly sitting exams.

As shown in my results, I averaged at a 67%, which I am extremely proud of.

Although, completely out of my comfort zone being an extremely family orientated person, I learned to adapt and enjoy my surroundings. I was extremely lucky to get to experience such ongoings in America; such as studying Election Law whilst Donald Trump was elected into presidency.

I believe I would be a great candidate choice for the Byrne Wallace Trainee Programme due to all of my strong personality traits as shown above. Commercial Law is the exact area of law I would like to go into, hence I believe Byrne Wallace is the best Programme that may introduce me at best to this sector.

Many thanks,
Muireann Browne
