LL.B, LL.M. Candidate, FE1 Candidate.

DATE: 7th of October 2018.

OPENING: Trainee Solicitor Programme

TO: Hiring Manager

The last year has been one of massive growth for me personally as I decided to focus on myself and my professional and educational development beyond just completing a basic legal education. I completed my Bachelors of Law with Economics graduating in August 2017 with a high 2:1 degree. I then came to the decision to undertake a Master's in Law (LL.M.) (1:1 expected). This further educational experience further nurtured the skills necessary to be a successful trainee solicitor, including my presentation, time management, legal research and legal writing skills. As well as undertaking an LL.M. I also passed four of the FE1's and plan to complete them in Spring 2019. In addition to this, I recently completed the Chief Justice of Ireland's Summer Internship in 2018, as well as studying abroad as part of the University Immersion Programme in Chengdu, China, where I studied international commercial law. The details of which I have further outlined in my resumé.

Taking these steps to improve myself professionally and educationally I did not feel was enough, so I am continuing to pursue my personal development through volunteering both on and off campus during my masters and beyond. I have also completed the Law Society MOOC in Employment Law to further development and specify my knowledge to suit that of a solicitor in a commercial environment. Coupling this with the high levels of professional experience I have gained from companies such as Northern Trust and KPMG, I believe I am an ideal candidate for a summer traineeship at Byrne Wallace. I have the professional skills, experience and demeanour required to be an invaluable asset to any team I will work with.

I am also incredibly passionate and determined to succeed in the legal field. I am constantly striving to better myself and use every one of the twenty four hours I am given each day to my full advantage. In particular, I am incredibly passionate about intellectual property law and know that this is an area that I would love to work in within the firm. It was the basis of my LL.M. dissertation which I recently completed in September 2018, focusing on IP design rights in the fashion industry. I believe as well as all that I have outlined that I am personable, incredibly motivated and ambitious and that there is no one willing to work harder for Byrne Wallace as a trainee solicitor (and beyond that) than I am.

I am available immediately for interview. Thank you sincerely for taking the time to consider my application, please do not hesitate in getting in touch should you have any questions.
