ByrneWallace LLP,
88 Harcourt Street,
Dublin 2,

Dear Sirs,

I am writing to express my keen interest in a Trainee Solicitor position within the Byrne Wallace LLP Dublin office. The following is a brief summary of my background outlining my suitability and interest for this opportunity.

Firstly, I have a strong legal academic background receiving a Bachelor of Civil law degree from University College Cork in addition to having successfully completed all of the FE1 examinations with the Law Society of Ireland.

Secondly, over the last six years I have acquired vast legal administrative and compliance experience from working across multiple sectors such as the funds, finance and technology industry.

Throughout my academic career, I have consistently demonstrated a strong commitment to ascertaining the law and its application in practice. During my tenure of employment, I have had the opportunity to develop and foster my skills in a range of legal areas, such as taxation, conveyancing, legal entity formation, data protection, discovery, and employment law related issues.

I am drawn to ByrneWallace LLP because of the firms reputation for excellence in client service and its commitment to fostering a supportive and collaborative working environment. Thus, I would relish the prospect of joining a team of highly skilled solicitors who are dedicated to achieving the best results for their clients by offering a solution orientated approach to each legal issue that arises.

As a highly motivated and enthusiastic individual, I know I have the skills and attributes required to thrive in this role. I can adapt fast in new learning curves and always eager to take on new challenges. In addition, I am a team player and work well with others and equally have the ability to work autonomously where necessary.

I would be honoured to have the opportunity to discuss my application further with you. Thank you for considering my application.

Yours sincerely,

Robert Boyle
