Re: Trainee Solicitor

Dear Ms. Murray,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Trainee Solicitor position at ByrneWallace LLP. As a graduate from University College Cork, I developed my legal acumen and analytical comprehension and graduated with a 2.1 Honours Bachelor of Civil Law degree. In addition, I have successfully completed the FE1 examinations with the Law Society of Ireland and therefore in a position to commence a traineeship.

Over the last six years I have acquired vast corporate legal administrative and compliance experience from working with numerous in-house legal counsel teams across the following sectors, funds, finance and technology. Throughout my academic studies, I have consistently demonstrated a strong commitment to ascertaining the law and its application in practice. During my tenure of employment, I have had the opportunity to develop and foster my skills in a diverse range of legal areas, such as taxation, conveyancing, legal entity formation, data protection, and employment law.

I attended the ByrneWallace trainee webinar on October 3rd to get a better understanding and insight into the culture not just from a professional perspective but a personal one too. The core value of “Decency” echoed by Managing Partner Feargal Brennan really resonated with me in terms of integrity and I got a strong sense of that ethos from listening to each of the panel members sharing their personal journey from trainee to associate right through to partner level. It left me feeling inspired and motivated to join ByrneWallace LLP even more because momentarily I felt like I was part of the team while listening to their individual backgrounds and finding similarity from my own work experience and pursuit to finding the right traineeship. This is the reason why ByrneWallace LLP is my number one choice for a trainee mentorship.

Enclosed is my resume, which provides additional details about my academic achievements, and work experiences. I would greatly appreciate the opportunity to discuss how my skills and aspirations align with the goals of ByrneWallace LLP in a personal interview. Thank you for considering my application. Please feel free to contact me on 0852612833 or robertboyle89@gmail.com to schedule an interview or for any further information.

Yours sincerely,

Robert Boyle
