To Whom It May Concern,

I am delighted to outline my experience in support of my application to work as a trainee solicitor in Byrne Wallace.

As a result of my varied experience working on both in-house and private practice legal teams, I have developed strong commercial acumen in addition to excellent organisational and communication skills. Through working in fast-paced working environments, such as Twitter, Airbnb and law firms of various sizes, I have grown accustomed to delivering excellent results whilst working flexibly to tight deadlines. Further, as a result of my professional experience to date, I have amassed knowledge in and gained practical experience in corporate law, commercial law, litigation and dispute resolution and privacy and data protection. This varied and highly relevant experience has equipped me with strong analytical and legal research skills. Additionally, through my various legal roles, I have gained experience in legal drafting, case management, client care and general administrative work.

My professional experience has cemented my desire to qualify as a solicitor. Having successfully completed the FE-1 examinations, I would relish the opportunity to train as a solicitor in a progressive full service commercial law firm such as Byrne Wallace. Moreover, I believe that the excellent training, support and guidance provided to trainee solicitors in Byrne Wallace would enable me to further develop my technical legal and business knowledge across varied and stimulating practice areas and industry sectors.

The unrivalled training provided by Byrne Wallace coupled with the aptitude, skills and enthusiasm I possess would enable me to excel as a trainee solicitor and ultimately become a much valued team member and highly skilled solicitor with Byrne Wallace, providing commercially focused legal and business advice to the firm's wide-ranging client base.

I thank you in advance for your time and consideration.

Yours faithfully,
Ronan Shaughnessy.
