Dear Ms Loftus,

Re: Application for the post of a Trainee.

I am writing to express my interest in the role of a Trainee advertised on the firm's official website. I am currently pursuing a Masters Degree (L.L.M.) specializing in Intellectual Property & Information Technology Law at Trinity College Dublin, Ireland and I am very keen to build a career at Byrne Wallace.

My academic as well as experience in the field of law has equipped me with the analytical, and critical thinking skills to carry out the work of a Solicitor. I know from speaking with several of your employees at the Byrne Wallace Trainee Open Evening held on 24th September 2019 that you are looking for extremely motivated, determined and loyal individuals, and I believe I fit these criteria as a glance at my past achievements and experience would establish. I have also gained practical experience while working as a Junior Associate at the Chambers of Advocate Anand Parchure in India.

I hail from India and I believe that this is what sets me apart from the crowd. One of the skills that I bring to the table is an ability to consider various perspectives. Another advantage that I possess is that in India there is no distinction between Solicitors and Barristers. This means that I am able to think from the perspective of a Barrister as well as Solicitors this enables me to work more efficiently.

I am interested in working at Byrne Wallace because I am certain there is a lot to learn and I know you offer excellent in depth training and career development opportunities to your staff. I was also fascinated by the fact that many of your present partners have been past Trainees. This establishes my faith in your law firm. I am impressed by your corporate presence and trans-boundary reputation. I have also gone through the testimonials of your previous trainees and interns to learn that there is regular rotation and responsibilities are thrust upon a trainee which allows him or her to learn and develop at an exponential rate.

While I understand that it is still early days in my career, you will find by a bare perusal of my curriculum vitae that I exhibit a powerful combination of proven ability expertise, solid communication skills, and extensive hands on experience. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss my application with you at an interview. Please find attached my curriculum vitae.

I look forward to the opportunity to meet with you to learn more about your firm, its plans and goals, and how I might contribute to its continued success.

Yours sincerely

Shantanu Rahul Kulkarni
