Dear Sir or Madam,

My name is Susan Ryan and I am writing to apply for your Trainee Solicitor Programme.

An experienced news editor and journalist, I am committed to taking the skills I have developed in that profession and applying them to the practice of law. While working full time in my capacity as a senior news editor at an international organisation, I have passed six FE1 exams, and am taking the final two in the current sitting. I have also been accepted to the Advanced Diploma in Social Media and Media Law course at King's Inns which is due to commence this month.

I am applying to your firm for a traineeship because ByrneWallace has an outstanding reputation as a top tier law firm in Ireland, with an admirably broad range of clientele and areas of legal expertise. In researching my career shift into law, it was clear to me that ByrneWallace stands out both in terms of a high level of client engagement and satisfaction, and as a workplace which is supportive to staff development and mentorship.

In my work and studies to date I have been committed to practicing the highest standards while embracing developments in the evolution of the sector, and I am seeking the opportunity to continue working in this manner in law. For further detail on my background and relevant skills, please see my CV, attached as part of this application.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,
Susan Ryan
